FOREWORD

Some 25 years ago the International Standard Book Number was created to serve as the unique identifier for every individual monograph publication. It is now used world-wide for monographic publications and has successfully demonstrated its indispensability as an identification tool. Therefore, all publishers are feeling encouraged to use ISBN on their products. ISBN is the only international identifier of books which has rationalised the publishing industry, the book trade and the libraries.

The year 1991 marked the 25th anniversary of the International Standard Book Number (ISBN) system. Today, all the major book producing countries are members of ISBN system. This success owes to the emergence of ISBN as an efficient technical tool for promotion of books.

The object of the ISBN system is to increase internal efficiency. But apart from internal efficiency, the main object of ISBN system is to help rationalise ordering procedures in the international book trade.

Since 1985 Raja Rammohun Roy National Agency for ISBN has been promoting the ISBN system in India. Since then more than 1700 publishers have been enrolled throughout India. But a wider coverage is required. Therefore, those who are genuinely interested in seeing the emergence of a strong publishing industry in the country must switch over to ISBN applications on all their books for increased exports. In order to get books identified abroad, the printing of ISBN helps. It has been observed that quick identification of books affects the sale of books and their rights. The ISBN has thus become quite indispensable.

Raja Rammohun Roy National Agency for ISBN, in the series of publication of National Catalogue of ISBN Titles, has now brought out the fourth volume (1988-89) of the catalogue of such publications which have been assigned to ISBN by various publishers in India during 1988-89 and who have endorsed copies of ISBN numbered books to the Agency. The catalogue contains only such books which have been received by the Agency.

The third volume (1987-88) has already been released by the Agency for circulation. The National Catalogue of ISBN Titles has been welcomed by the publishers who are registered with ISBN Agency. An increasing number of books for inclusion in the above catalogue are being received. The catalogue will prove a very good reference and a publicity tool.

PREFACE

The International Standard Book Numbering System was introduced in India in 1985, in coordination with the International ISBN Agency, Berlin, and has completed eight years since then. Raja Rammohun Roy National Agency is trying to implement the system in India in its totality. So far the Agency has registered more than 1700 publishers, which is a small number considering the gigantic Indian book industry. India occupies a prominent place in the world of international publishing and ranks eight in the production of books and third in the production of books in English. Commercial publishing is in the hands of 900 publishers of whom about 3000, including government publishing agencies, are the active ones. Of these, 2,700 are small publishers, 200 medium and 100 large. Keeping this in view the National Agency for ISBN has yet to cover a large field in registering the publishers.

The National Agency has been making appreciable efforts in this direction through various measures like meeting the publishers under "Contact the Publishers" programme and has set up free registration counters for the convenience of the publishers in the national book fairs and world book fairs. During 1992-93, one such free registration counter was set up at the world Book Fair, 1992 organized by the NBT, Children's Book Fair, 1992, organized by NBT at Gauhati and at the Patna Book Fair organized by the Education Guild of Bihar. Through its own efforts and with the help of Federations of Indian Publishers/Booksellers and Association of Publishers in the States, the Agency has been able to create awareness amongst the publishing community for participation in the system. Consequently, there is an increase in the number of publishers who are registering themselves under the system. The publishers who are already registered under the system have profusely started using ISBN on their books, in publicity folders, and in their catalogues, which is an encouraging sign in this direction.

Mr. Hartmut Walravens, Director, International ISBN Agency, Berlin participated in IPA and IFLA Conferences organised by India during 1992. He stressed the usefulness of the ISBN System to the publishing industry all over the world. This has further enthused the cause of the ISBN System in India.

The ISBN System inter-alia helps to push the exports of Indian books and to minimise delays in the execution of orders. The system is helping to promote indigenous publications and in identifying publishers of books and individual titles. This is an economic way of communication among publishers, suppliers, book sellers and book buyers.

The National Agency has been bringing out National Catalogue of ISBN Titles since its inception 1985 and has so far brought out three volumes of the Catalogue for the years 1985-86, 1986-87, 1987-88. The fourth volume in the series for 1988-89 has presently been brought out. The Catalogue serves the purpose of free and wide publicity to the Indian publications.

We earnestly hope that all such publishers who have not yet got themselves registered with the Agency will now do so free of cost in their own interest and also to help India to achieve a target of total adoption of the system which is presently a distant dream.

The Catalogue, though running in its fourth Volume, is still in its infancy. Suggestions for its improvement are welcome. The Catalogue, in its own small way, serves as a valuable reference book for publishers, librarians, and all others concerned with books.

EDITORIAL

Book publishing in India, which has come a longway since independence, is pulsating with new life and accelerating towards professionalism and has developed a progressive character. According to National Library, Calcutta. India produced 17,040 titles during 1989-90 and is capable of not only meeting the demand of the domestic market but is also in a position of export of books to Afro-Asian countries, to USA, and U.K. We export to 80 countries, the largest buyers being the U.K., U.S.A., Singapore, Malaysia, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Nepal and a good number of West Asian Countries.

To give further impetus to the growing and progressive indigenous book industry, the Government of India in coordination with International ISBN Agency, Berlin, adopted an ISBN System and accredited erstwhile Raja Rammohun Roy National Educational Resources Centre now Raja Rammohun Roy National Agency for ISBN to implement the System. The Agency now forms a part of the Copyright and Book Promotion Division of the Ministry of Human Resource Development, New Delhi.

Raja Rammohun Roy National Agency for ISBN in India has registered more than 1,700 publishers out of an estimated 15,000 publishers. The National Agency has made tremendous efforts to popularise the system in India through participation in National Book Fairs, World Book Fair, media, contact the publisher programme, and through the help of Federation of Publishers/ Book Sellers Association, trade journals, etc. and has been able in creating awareness among the Indian publishers. This has an impact on the publishers and resultantly more and more publishers are joining the system. We keenly observe that most of the publications bear the ISBNs on them and in all publicity material of the publishers, National Bibliography being published by National Library, Calcutta, has been printing ISBNs wherever these are available.

The book industry in India is a large complex consisting of a wide range of professionals such as authors, editors, publishers, printers and book sellers.

Today, India is among the topmost multilingual publishing countries in the world. Books produced in India cover many subjects, although Indian publishing is particularly strong in literature, social sciences and religion. Books on pure sciences and technology, including computer science, have also begun appearing in large numbers. India occupies a unique position with a fulfledged mechanism for systematic book development.

The publication of National Catalogue of ISBN Titles is a remarkable and useful activity of the National Agency and helps in popularising the System and providing world-wide publicity to indigenous publication and the publishers who are registered with the Agency. The National Catalogue of ISBN Titles, Volume 4 (1988-89) contains 4.265 entries in the ISBN sequence/author sequence, of such publications bearing ISBNs and which have been donated by publishers to the Agency. The Agency has already despatched Volume 3 (1987-88) to all the publishers registered with the Agency. The publishers who have not yet received the same may obtain a copy of the same free of cost from the office of the Agency.

The fourth volume for 1988-89, has been prepared through efforts of the staff of the Agency. May I have the opportunity to thank Shri S. N. Joshi and Shri S. K. Malik for compilation and Shri Gopal Singh for typing the manuscript of the Catalogue.

The National Agency records its sincerest thanks to Shri M.P.M. Kutty, Joint Secretary, Shri Suresh Chand, Special Officer and Shri B. S. Dhillon, Under Secretary (Copyright and B. P. Division) of the Ministry of Human Resource Development for their enthused encouragement to the staff for the publication of the Catalogue.

Scope

The National Catalogue of ISBN Titles is the prestigious publication of the Agency and it is a unique publication in its nature being published only by the Agency in India. The Agency has earlier brought out three volumes of the Catalogue viz. 1985-86, 1986-87, 1987-88 and now has brought out fourth volume viz. 1988-89 in the series The present volume covers the period from 1-4-1988 to 31-3-1989 and enlists more than 2,100 publications in English as well as in other Indian regional languages received from the publishers who are registered with the National Agency for ISBN. These publications contain listing of ISBN Books on varied disciplines in all languages. Utmost care has been taken in achieving maximum accuracy in the rendering of entries, abbreviations and uniform citations. The earlier catalogues had five indices but the present volume has only four indices viz. ISBN Index, Author Index, Publishers Index with abbreviation used in each entry and a category-wise list of such publishers with their complete addresses, publishers identifiers who have been registered during the year of reporting viz. 1988-89. has also been appended for the benefit of the librarians, distributors and publishers. The National Catalogue of ISBN Titles, Vol. 4 (1988-89) has no separate subject Index as in earlier Catalogues but the subject of the publications has been indicated in the ISBN Index at the end of each entry at the extreme right hand side. We may see it in a sample entry as shown below under a ISBN Index. This has rendered the Catalogue more meaningful and compact and at the same time economised the printing and labour.

ISBN Index

All the entries under the ISBN index have been arranged numerically in order of publisher's identifiers. Efforts have been made to provide full bibliographical details of each publication as far as possible. A specimen sample entry is given below :—

81-212-0058-X

Life style Indian tribes.
S. T. Das. Delhi, Gian, 1987.
309 p. Rs. 225.00
(E) (300)

Author Index

A uniform pattern is adopted in the rendering of the author entries which are arranged in single alphabetical order under the surname followed by the forename and bearing complete details of imprint, collation, price followed by the ISBN and subject of the publication at the end. A sample entry is given below :—

Das, S. T.

Life style Indian tribes.
Delhi, Gian, 1987. 309 p.
Rs. 225.00
(E) (300)
ISBN 81-212-0058-X

Publishers Index with abbreviations

Abbreviations coined for each publisher in the entry element is followed by complete name and address of the publisher alongwith its Publisher's Identifiers.

Transliteration

All the titles of books in regional languages have been transliterated in Roman script without diacritical marks. Errors and omissions, if any, creeped into the Catalogue are deeply regretted.

Following the kind invitation of the UK Standard Book Numbering Agency on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the introduction of book numbering in Great Britain the 19th International ISBN Agency Advisory Panel Meeting was held in London on the 16th and 17th of October, 1991. The meeting was opened by the chairman Mr. David Whitaker.

Minutes of the 18th meeting

The minutes of the 18th meeting as published in the ISBN newsletter of February 1991 were approved.

Status Report of the International ISBN Agency

Dr. Walravens presented, and commented on, the status report of the International ISBN Agency's activities in the period from September 1990 to August 1991, as published in the ISBN review 12 (1991), During this period Bangladesh (group number 984), Bulgaria. (group number 954), Malawi (group number, 99905), Morocco (group number 9981), and Namibia (group number 9916) officially became member of the ISBN community. As of January 1st the Luxembourg ISBN group agency has taken over the administration of the respective range of publisher prefixes within ISBN group number 2. This formerly French range was put at the disposal of Luxembourg for its publishers.

Dr. Walravens stressed the importance of the ISBN system for the development of the book infrastructure in developing countries. He informed the Panel that the International ISBN Agency was in contact with the Hamilton Library, Honolulu, Hawaii. This library would be a suitable, institution for a prospective ISBN group agency because it collected all material published in the North Pacific region.

Dr. Walravens reported on the discussions regarding the new division of the Publishers' International ISBN Directory (PIID).. The resuluts of an enquiry showed that most users were in favour of alphabetical and numerical arrangements with full entries, only a minority preferred a geographical section with full entries as the main listing. In order to come to a complete agreement with the co-publisher it was decided to have three complete listings and use part of the International Agency's royalties to cover the cost.

The 18th meeting held in Utrecht was a major step forward in the development of the ISBN system.

The EAN leaflet, a co-production of the Centre ISDS and the International ISBN Agency, was successful. There has been a demand for it all over the world. Dr. Walravens underlined the importance of the co-operation with IFLA, especially in the field of the use and application of ISBNs in libraries. With reference to the list of visits to ISBN group agencies and visitors to the International ISBN Agency given in the ISBN review he invited colleagues to pay a visit to Berlin, whenever possible, to discuss questions and problems. The International ISBN Agency was unable to travel to the ISBN group agency of every member country once a year.

The International Standard Music Number (ISMN) draft has been recommended as Draft International Standard (DIS). According to the ISO/TC46 representative the publication is schedued before the end of this year.

The DIS suggested that the Berlin State Library took over the administration of the ISMN. The president of the Prussian Cultural Foundation and the director-general of the State Library are in favour of creating an International ISMN Agency but the task would have to be assigned to already existing staff of the merging state libraries—there will not be any new position for this purpose.

The attitudes of ISBN group agencies to the ISMN vary from country to country. Some will be delighted to take over the ISMN administration, others will not. There will certainly not be a patent solution for all countries. Mr. Pope suggested to apply to the EC to support the introduction of the ISMN system.

Ms. Lechner reported on the suggestion of ECHO to assign ISBNs or ISSNs to data-bases. The ISO working-group has not come to an agreement yet as to definition of a database as kind of an electronic publication. Mr. Whitaker maintained that detabases did not follow the rules of either ISBN or ISSN. Ms. Santiago said that in the present discussion no clear distinction was made between electronic publications and databases.

CD-ROM numbering

Whether an ISBN or an ISSN is assigned to a CD-ROM differs from one country to another. Dr. Neubaur expressed his view that it should depend on the contents of a product which numbering system applied, because CD-ROM was only a media, Ms. Santiago explained that sometimes the ISBN as well as the ISSN applied to a CD-ROM, an ISBN for the edition and an ISSN for the series. According to Mr. Whitaker there was no problem in using the ISSN, especially when a new CD-ROM was published 6 or 10 times a year (like the VLB, or Whitaker's Bookbank, respectively). Ms. Santiago pointed out that publishers sometimes did not use the ISSN on serial products because the trade software could not handle them the booktrade was more familiar with the ISBN. In Italy ISBNs are not assigned to CD-ROM. In the United States the ISSN identifies the series and the ISBN the individual editions. As a general rule Mr. Koltay therefore recommended to follow the usual practice for hard copies.

Progress reports

Besides the delegates from the Centro Regional para el Fomento del Libro en America Latina y el Caribe (CERLALC), the International Organisation for Standardization (ISO), UNESCO, the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA), and the International Publishers' Association (IPLA), representatives of the following countries attended the ISBN Advisory Panel Meeting:

China
Czechoslovakia
Finland
France
Germany
Hungary
Iceland
Italy
Korea
Luxembourg
Namibia
Netherlands
Norway
Portugal
Spain
Sweden
Switzerland
United Kingdom
United States of America
USSR

Some of the delegates either read or commented on their progress reports which were already published in ISBN review 12 (1991) or handed out as photocopies.

Finland reported that they had organized an ISBN seminar for 200 publishers and were planning a second one in 1992. The particular reason for the seminars was the increase in incorrect ISBNs. In Portubal 95% of all books published nowadays carried an ISBN, one problem being the lack of contact between the agency and authors publishing their own books (author-publishers) D'. Boris Lenskij, the representative for the Soviet Union, stated that some 1,300 publishers joined the ISBN system since October 1990. The independence of former republics caused serious difficulties, but Mr. Lenskij was confident that solution could be found and the meeting 1992 in Berlin would see these problems solved.

Dr. Lewy referred to a regional meeting for Latin American countries in Havanna/Cuba scheduled to take place at the end of October 1991. He asked about the role of CERLALC in the International ISBN Agency Advisory Panel. The Panel underlined the important role of CERLALC for the dis-semination of the ISBN in South America. CERLALC was considered the leading promoter of the ISBN system in the region and was expected to continue its work along these lines. The International ISBN Agency would write a letter which officially confirmed the position of CERLALC in the Advisory Panel and its appointment as a regular member.
Ms. Santiago from the ISDS International Centre pointed out that it was very important to inform publishers that they did not have to pay for using EAN barcodes and stressed the role of the ISSN as product number.

Dr. Neubauer suggested that the Micro-ISIS software which is distributed free of charge to member countries by Unesco should be made available through the International ISBN Agency.

The Chinese representative stated that all Chinese books carried ISBNs. He invited the Advisory Panel to have its 1993 meeting in China, but if that should prove impossible a regional meeting could perhaps be organized.

Mr. Lee Doo-Young from the Korean Publishers' Association informed the meeting that in December 1990 the National Library in Seoul took over the function of an ISBN group agency. There was an ISBN advisory board in Korea whose members were also publishers 4,000 publishers produced about 25,000 titles per year. The Korean publishers were at first keen on being assigned short publishers prefixes but came to understand that the practical nature of the ISBN excluded any misinterpretation of national prestige. Large booksellers' were persuaded not to accept books without ISBN. Information material about the SBN was beng prepared.

The Netherlands ISBN Bureau will soon have one database containing files of both Bureau ISBN and Central Boekhuis. There will be an exchange of data with the National Library. For Centraal Boekhuis the bar-code on books will soon become compulsory. One problem is: There may be one book with two ISBNs, but currently only one bar-code is possible.

In the United States of America the UPC bar code as sometimes on the back cover while other barcodes are on the inside cover. Germany and Great Britain have not experienced similar problems. The German ISBN agency provides barcodes to every publisher who wants to have them. 90% of the paperbacks do have barcodes, but only 20% of hard cover publications.

Mr. Koltay reported that there had been 60,000 prefix assignments since the introduction of the ISBN system in the US. From the beginning of next year the first 10 barcodes would be free to every publisher. In the US three numbers are necessary for orders, the ISBN, the number of items ordered and the SAN for the address. Mr. Koltay then gave a short summary of his written report.

The Luxembourg ISBN group agency began its work in January 1991. 46 publisher prefixes were assigned. An ISBN manual would be published in November. In Italy the ISBN system is promoted by direct mailing to publishers and institutions. Publishers from Sardinia are finally participating.

In Spain the ISBN group agency will be run by a new company as of January, 1992. 51% of the shares would be held by publishers booksellers and 49% will be owned by the state.

Mr. Nair explained the criteria for international publishers. They must have two or more offices in different countries.

He informed the panel about a training course which would be held in Bangkok/Thiland in November of this year. The adressees were ISBN staff from Asian countries.

The membership of the International ISBN Agency as Non-Governmental Organization (Category B) of Unesco was still under study. The general conference of the currently 178 member states of Unesco which met every 2 years was the only body which could decide this issue. As long as the International ISBN Agency was not recognized by Unesco, it could not be represented on the International Book Committee which consisted of 16 non-governmental organizations and awardeded book prizes.

The delegate from Iceland reported tht one important problem was to contact and inform small author-publishers.

Mr. Loubser from Namibia, one of the 'youngest' ISBN member countries, informed the panel that the library which hosted the ISBN group agency was also responsible for the legal deposit. There were about 60 publishers in Namibia.

In Hungary there were 404 more publishers in 1991, which was an increase of 50% since the foundation of the agency.

Mr. Ehlers who works on an expertise for the ECHO proposal (numbering of databases) said that the number of databases concerned was about 10,000 and that a new numbering system did not seem appropriate. He stated his preliminary view that a database did not fall within the scope of the ISBN system.

Publishers International ISBN Directory (PIID)

In the future the data for the Publishers' Inter-National ISBN Directory (PIID) will be processed on a new inhouse data administration system with Macintosh work stations. The ISBN group agencies were asked to kindly send their data in the form of updates. The International ISBN Agency would prefer the data to be delivered on diskettes (floppy disks), streamer cartridges, or - if there was no other possibility - magnetic tapes.

The reaction from the agencies was varied, most preferred to discuss this with their programmers. It was unclear whether data can be supplied in the form of printed lists. The USA were able to send updates, but the conversion of the format would need sometime. Great Britain was not able to offer updates at the moment but in the near future.

Dr. Walravens pointed out that the international ISBN Agency would be prepared to have conversion programs written if it were impossible for certain ISBN group agencies to supply data in the desired target format. He emphasized the line of priorities:

1. - data deliveries should comprise updates only.
2. - large agencies should deliver data several times a year, preferably on diskettes.
3. - agencies are asked to use the International Agency's data format for data export if possible (e.g. when automating the ISBN agency's operations).

The data format of the International Agency was circulated among the participants (see appendix).

Mr. Muller asked to be informed about the sales of the Publishers' International ISBN Director (PIID). According to Mr. Koltay the sales in the USA were down from 1,500 to 800. Mr. Muller requested an annual report on the sales and development of the (PIII).

SBN application in libraries

Dr. Walravens reported that the actual use of the ISBN in libraries was rather limited, though there were many options which had not been thoroughly explored. The ISBN could be quite important for inter-library loan.

The problem for librarians seemed to be that they would have to process books most but not all of which carried ISBNs. For this reason it seemed important to improve the coverage of the ISBN.

Dr. Neubauer mentioned that electronic ordering systems in libraries would surely favour the use of ISBNs in libraries.

One outstanding example is the Public Lending Right (PLR) system in the UK. This system uses the ISBN to determine the number of lendings of individual books. The more libraries use electronic devices, the more the ISBN will be used.

Covernment publications

The standard numbering of government publications varies from country to country. In eight of the member states represented at the panel, the coverage was not satisfactory. Particularly in developing countries the situation was considered extremely bad. The question was raised how to increase the coverage.

Dr. Costa suggested making the numbering compulsory. Dr. Lewy thought that it would be very difficult to persuade governments to number their publications. The delegates from Great Britain and the United States of America were of the opinion that only the demand for numbering would simulate the increased in coverage. Dr. Lewy proposed that ISO send letters to the respective governments urging them to observe the international standard and use the ISBN.

Registartion fees

At the Panel meeting in Utrecht in 1990 the participants expressed their opinion that the assignment of an ISBN had to be free of charge, whereas a charge for services on behalf of an agency could be permissible. This position was repeated in London. The US ISBN agency agreed to "repackage" its services in order to make a clear distinction between the assignment of the number and the services of the agency. A charge for the ISBN itself would be an obstacle to the further spread of the system. Mr. Koltay argued that a free ISBN only transferred the costs of the administartion of the system to others. One point on the agenda for the next panel meeting would be a survey of the charges made for services in various countries.

Sales data collection

Mr. Whitaker suggested to collect sales data by using the ISBN as an indentifying number. Publishers were very keen to know what was selling. Sales data helped publishers to know how much was sold where, and also provided bestseller lists. This information could contribute to cutting high return rates and thereby reduce costs.

ISBN integrity preservation

The Panel Meeting underlined that it was important that ISBN/Bookland EAN was one thing. Ms. Kersaan reported that in the Netherlands publishers cut off the ISBN from Bookland EAN. It must be made clear to publishers that the EAN Bookland and the ISBN must appear on the book. Publishers' associations would inform members e.g. by press releases.

Miscellaneous

Transliteration

Dr. Walravens explained a problem that occured to him while checking publishers addresses in non-Roman scripts for inclusion in the PIID. The group agencies usually kept their files in their own scripts (Cyrillic, Chinese, Arabic etc.) and transliterated the data for the International Agency. Publishers' names in languages other than the vernacular, even if widely used, or in other transcriptions used by the pblishers himself (e.g. Cantonese) were usually not recorded. For this reason "Science Publishers, Moscow" would not be found in the Directory, only the correct vernacular name "Nauka". For the international booktrade, however, the listing of current and widely used publisher names was of prime importance. He appealed to all agencies handling non-Roman scripts to register all names publisher actually used.

Reprints (facsimile).........

Dr. Walravens informed about a reprint which was so "good" that it included the original ISBN which might be interpreted as the current valid ISBN.

Non-book material

Because of the growing amount of non-print media being assigned ISBNs it becomes important to have a clear definition of what can be classified as "non-book material". Mr. Schinzel circulated a detailed comparison on definitions of non-book material in various countries. He came to the conclusion that all available definitions were outdated. The ISBN group agencies were asked to supply information on how they handle this material.

Switzelrland

The ISBN system in Switzerland is administered by three agencies. Mr. Birchmeier from the ISBN agency for the German-speaking part of Switzerland made the proposal to have one ISBN group agency for all Swiss regions. In principle the French and Italian ISBN group agencies would agree. Official requests would have to come from the publishers' associations concerned.

Incorrect IBNs............

Mr. Sandgren (Sweden) announced that the Swedish national bibliography would not longer list incorrect ISBNs separately.

New republics-new ISBN group numbers

The Panel Meeting discussed the question of the allocation of group numbers to countries which have just become—or are going to become—independent, like the Baltic states, and several Soviet and Yugoslavian republics. The question whether the Baltic states would obtain contingents out of the group number 5 or be assigned a completely new ISBN group number was open. Dr. Walravens informed the Panel about a letter from Croatian authorities who want to take over the ISBN administration themselves.

Next International ISBN Agency Advisory Panel Meeting

The next meeting is scheduled to take place in Berlin on October 6-7, 1992, after the Frankfurt Book Fair.

EAN Bar Codes for Books and Serials

EAN Strichcodes fur Bucher und Zeitschriften

Codes a Barres EAN pour Livres et Periodiques

Codigos de Barras EAN Para Libros y Revistas

EAN bar codes . . .

. . .rationalize the flow of goods
. . .allow the use of efficient EPOS systems
. . .help to avoid transmission mistakes
. . .make calculating easier
. . .make ordering easier
. . .are important for stock control
. . .save labour costs
. . .accelerate the turnover
. . .facilitate the automated handling of returns

In the supermarket we encounter them every day. And in the book trade the bar code is becoming more and more important. Books and serials in addition to the International Standard Book Number (ISBN) and the International Standard Serial Number (ISSN) may be identified by an EAN bar code, identifying uniquely the printed product. If your publications already carry an ISSN or ISBN, which are available from the responsible group agencies, the use of bar codes is very easy. You can create the EAN by way of incorporating the ISBN or ISSN and adding the corresponding flag which denotes the product group (977 for serials, 978 for books). It is not necessary for a publisher to apply for the allocation of a manufacturer number by the responsible EAN numbering authority. There are no fees for publishers using ISBN, ISSN or EAN. Publishers only have to pay for the EAN film master which in general they can order directly from a film master manufacturer.

EAN bar codes are not a project for the far future. In many areas they have already become part of our daily life. Start using EAN now if you still want to sell your books and serials in the future. More relevant information about EAN bar code based on ISBN or ISSN can be obtained from the competent ISBN or ISSN agencies, or from the ISDS International Centre in Paris and the International ISBN Agency in Berlin.

NATIONAL AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL STANDARD BOOK NUMBER

National Agency for International Standard Book Number formed a part of the erstwhile Raja Rammohun Roy National Educational Resources Centre but since September, 1989, it is functioning independently. The National Agency is the result of long cherished demand of the Indian Book Industry and Indian Book Exporters. India stands 31st among distinguished members of ISBN community. The ISBN is a ten digit unique number assigned to books. It identifies a specific publisher, the individual title or volume of a multi-volumed book and is unique to that title or edition—or volume. The ISBN applies basically to books but by extension, it may be used for many things produced by publishers or collected by libraries.

There are several advantages of the ISBNs. For the Librarians the immediate advantage is in the simplification of ordering work. As ISBN becomes a part of the book, the order procedure would be very much simplified. In countries where computers are being used by book-sellers, publishers, libraries, it is possible to envisage far reaching changes and improvements in the book ordering process. For book-sellers the ISBN offers a scheme for arranging the stock for easy and efficient supply of items. Those using telex or other telecommunications systems for ordering could increase the speed of ordering.

For the publishers, the systems provides a basis for efficient procedures in stock control, order fulfilment, book keeping and sales analysis.

HOW TO OBTAIN ISBNs ?
